Purpose

The Gympie Regional Council Arts and Cultural Plan provides an approach for Council and the community to support, celebrate and develop the creative and cultural life of the region.

This plan considers the overall directions and outcomes necessary to support Council’s commitment to Arts and Culture over the next ten years.

Gympie Regional Council’s Arts and Cultural Policy

Gympie Regional Council recognises that arts and culture are major contributors to building strong and healthy communities, innovation, economic development, public relations, self-expression, cultural identity and sense of place.

Gympie Regional Council aims to provide an environment that allows people to enjoy opportunities for artistic and cultural expression and development whilst acknowledging the diversity of cultural values, lifestyle, religious, political, social, economic and ethnic differences.
A definition of ‘Culture’

Gympie Regional Council adopts the definition of Arts and Culture as outlined in the National Cultural Accord1:

“A broad concept of arts and culture encompasses three overlapping and interrelated sectors:

Core arts: Music, performing arts, literature and visual arts, including established and emerging art forms, and inter-arts activities. In addition to the individual and collective activities of practitioners, for vocational or recreational purposes, the core arts include arts education, collections and performances which may be made available to the public in galleries, libraries, theatres, cultural venues and training institutions and increasingly on-line and broadcast.

Creative industries: A sector which harnesses a range of creative and business skills for commercial production and dissemination. Creative industries include film and television production, broadcasting, electronic games, architecture, design and fashion, publishing, media and advertising.

Cultural heritage: In parallel with core arts and creative industries there is a strong recognition of Australia’s diverse cultural heritage, and the work of museums, galleries and libraries and archives to preserve and provide access to the artifacts and intangible heritage of Australia’s culture. In particular, Australia’s heritage includes Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander cultures which are amongst some of the oldest living cultures in the world.”

Gympie Regional Council also recognises that sport is an important part of our culture bringing people together to engage as a community.

Understanding OUR culture

There is much to love about the Gympie Region.

The Gympie Region spans almost 7000sqkm and includes urban, bush and beach areas. The natural environment is incredibly important to local people and serves as inspiration to many of our artists and for much of our cultural development.

Family friendly, relaxed outdoor lifestyle, a dynamic natural environment, rich history of determination and resilience, and a strong sense of community – it is not surprising to find Gympie is the place to call home for nearly 50,000 residents.

Cultural expression and activity has contributed to shaping the region and its appeal. The earliest recorded community gatherings were for the triennial Bunya Nut feasts held by Indigenous Kabi Kabi people. These were important events for people to come together for ceremony and cultural exchange, the first signature festivals in the region that celebrate what is significant and distinctive to the people who live here.

Nowadays, events like Gold Rush, Goomeri Pumpkin Festival, Mary River Festival, Tin Can Bay Seafood Festival, Rainbow Beach Fishing Classic, Gympie Muster, Gympie Show, Heart of Gold Film festival and many others express the region’s identity. They have become iconic, signature events that represent and celebrate the qualities, history and values of the people and places that are the Gympie Region.

The face of the region has grown, changed, adapted and prospered. As one industry has fallen, another has taken its place allowing for considerable stability over time. Timber, mining, dairying, agriculture, rail and manufacturing have shaped the towns and spread stories across the region. History is a great source of pride to residents, heritage groups, organisations and individuals who tirelessly work to promote, educate and preserve our many culturally significant assets, artifacts and stories.

Arts and culture is supported by large numbers of cultural facilities and spaces. Local community halls, the regional gallery, libraries, museums, theatres, showgrounds, outdoor stages, parks, and open spaces are used by dance academies, amateur theatrical societies, drama schools, church choirs, community bands, families, artists groups and individuals. They provide spaces for residents and visitors to express their creativity and encourage communities to share and learn together.

The Mary River winds through the region linking a number of towns along the way. Those living alongside it are familiar with its ability to both nourish the land and bring destruction with more than 50 moderate-to-major flood events recorded since 1870³.

The Mary River has helped shaped the history of the region for many – industries and livelihoods have risen and fallen around it, locals have joined together to fight for it, festivals are held to celebrate it and our built environment has been shaped by it.

The river provides an ever-present reminder of our connection, dependence and vulnerability to the local environment.

Residents value the lifestyle and location of the Gympie Region within South East Queensland. Many essential public amenities and services are available including, schools, hospital, railways, and public transport. The region is conveniently located on the northern tip of the Sunshine Coast making it easily able to access other major shopping districts and services. Locals are proud of the region’s distinct identity and enjoy being at arm’s length from the more populated areas north and south.

Technology has made residents of Gympie Region more connected and engaged than ever before. Approximately 70% of private dwellings have internet connections allowing them to seek out information, ideas and content that interest them⁴.

This access to mainstream culture and the ability to participate in specific subcultures, groups or online communities significantly redefines the notion of ‘regional living’.

Community is incredibly important to people across the region. People feel proud, safe and believe their opinions matter. Great arts and cultural groups, schools, community groups, sporting clubs and social groups help people feel that they contribute and belong. Strong social values and a willingness to support each other are realised in the commitment to volunteering, without which, many activities in the region would not be possible. These attributes enhance the development and wellbeing of people, making them more resilient and able to recover from natural disaster and adversity\(^5\). It is this sense of community that has unified people and fostered the strong reputation of resilience that is synonymous with the region.

Gympie Regional Council is responsible for enhancing liveability within the region through the provision of essential services, infrastructure, planning and governance. It directly supports arts and culture through the management and maintenance of numerous cultural facilities across the region and delivery of many community programs and activities. Funding programs like the Regional Arts Development Fund (RADF) support individuals and groups to achieve their own creative pursuits whilst the Community Assistance Grants relieve some of the financial pressure felt by not-for-profit groups and allow them to continue supporting others in the community. Council is committed to ensuring the delivery of these services continues to support and celebrate the distinctiveness of the people and places in the community.
What is the role of Council?

To ensure artistic and cultural growth, Council will need to fill several roles:

Enabler

Creating an environment where Arts and Culture can flourish through capacity building, brokering partnerships, access and opportunity, actively supporting community-led initiatives, and creating and supporting community networks and resources.

What our Arts and Cultural Plan will do

In 2010, Gympie Regional Council adopted an Arts and Cultural Policy which articulates their commitment to supporting the creative and cultural life of people living in the region.

This plan supports that policy by providing a road map with which Council can grow and develop arts and culture for the next ten years.

The Gympie Region Arts and Cultural Plan provides a number of exciting opportunities, including:

- building on the Council’s current cultural support and activity in a cohesive and strategic way
- supporting the creativity and expression of local residents and groups
- supporting people to come together to have shared experiences as a community
- supporting a creative economy that contributes to the overall economic development of the region through jobs, commerce and tourism
- enhancing cultural infrastructure across the region whilst encouraging accessibility and use
- increasing the capacity of the region’s events, festivals and activities to attract new audiences and better engage with local communities
- promoting and preserving the region’s significant cultural heritage including iconic buildings and social history collections
- encouraging links between community arts and social wellbeing practices
- promotional activities and cultural tourism initiatives that raise awareness of local artists and activities.
Cultural vision

A vibrant, diverse, engaged and creative community rich with character, history and opportunity.

Key objectives

Our key objectives are to:

• recognise the vital role arts and culture play in the wellbeing, prosperity and distinctiveness of the region
• provide space and opportunity for people to express themselves creatively, come together and share experiences as a community
• celebrate and protect a rich history that continues to inform and shape our futures
• support local careers and skill development in the creative industries
• harness the location, environment and cultural assets of the region to attract visitors and investment
• enhance liveability, lifestyle and well-being for residents
• effect a culture shift within Council which acknowledges and considers cultural outcomes across each business area.

Strategic Themes

To frame Council’s approach to supporting the cultural life of the region, the Arts and Cultural Plan is separated into four key themes.

• People
• Place
• Past
• Possibility

Strategic outcomes

1. PEOPLE shape our local culture through their stories, values, creativity, generosity and passion.
2. A strong connection to PLACE is inspired by our natural environment and supported through accessible, active community spaces and facilities.
3. Our PAST informs the future and our cultural heritage is valued, shared and protected.
4. Creativity invites POSSIBILITY and offers opportunities to grow, innovate, plan and achieve.

At the centre of every community are the distinctive, unique characters that make up its fabric. The lifestyle, backgrounds, identities, values and experiences of the people within our community inform the stories we want to tell and share. We are resilient and caring, and this altruistic impulse to help our neighbours and tackle challenges together is celebrated and recognised far beyond the borders of our region.

Our signature festivals and events shine a spotlight on our diversity, and show what we are proud of. We value the importance of our local artists and community groups and seek to engage with them and celebrate their role in our community.
What will our community see?

• Acknowledge and celebrate the rich indigenous cultures of the region’s traditional owners including the Kabi Kabi, Butchulla and Wakka Wakka people.
• Stronger links between health, well-being and the arts.
• A continued commitment to community engagement.
• People of all ages, abilities and cultural backgrounds participating in arts and cultural activities.
• Increased intergenerational arts and cultural activities linking children and young people with community elders.
• New audiences developed for local events, festivals, programs and activities.
• Arts and culture used to express resilience and support recovery from natural disasters.
• Communities feeling safe and connected across the region.

- Actively promote local arts and culture through tourism and other communication strategies.

1.5. Sustainable volunteering
The richness of arts and culture in the Gympie Region is only possible because of the strong culture of volunteering that exists. As communities change and grow, it is vital that volunteering is supported appropriately to ensure its sustainability into the future. Local volunteers require recognition, skills development and training opportunities. Local organisations need support to find more people willing to contribute their time and ensure business models protect and support volunteers.

1.6 Arts and Cultural Reference Group
The local community will take an active role in supporting cultural opportunities across the region. The Arts and Cultural Reference Group will consist of community leaders and stakeholders and will meet with Council regularly to offer insight and strategies around arts and cultural development across the region. This commitment to ongoing community consultation, collaboration and engagement will assist Council to be continuously improving its services and support of local arts and culture.
